A Good Trial.

London, October 10.

The "Dreadnought," eight hours full speed of 22 knots was developed without any vibration.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERIES.

Agitation Increasing.

London, October 10.

The agitation against the American modus vivendi is increasing, and the Clergy of all creeds are urging the Government to take vigorous action with the object of nullifying it.

Two Colonial cruisers have been ordered to Bay Islands to begin patrolling.

Foreign Office Statement.

London, October 10.

The Foreign Office has published a full summary of the modus vivendi with America concerning the herring fisheries.

Great Britain undertakes not to enforce a law recently passed by the Newfoundland legislature, aimed expressly at preventing American fishermen from profiting by local advantages.

Great Britain also consents to Americans using purse seines, to which Newfoundlanders particularly object.

America on the other hand agrees that there shall be no fishing on Sunday and to conform to certain Colonial regulations, and also undertakes to ship no Newfoundlanders for work in American vessels, except outside territorial limits.

The indignation in Newfoundland is wholly unshared by the publication of the modus vivendi, and the Imperial Government is accused of trampling on Colonial rights.

The Colony is firmly resolved to use every means to cripple American fishermen.

Ship Dismasted.

The British ship "Eskasoni" arrived in port this morning, in tow of the steamer "Amura." She was dismasted in a typhoon on September 18, while on her way to Hongkong, and one of the hands fell from aloft and sustained slight injuries.

THE DOCK STRIKE.

Carpenters' till 1 at.

Contrary to expectations formed yesterday the Dock strike is still on. The carpenters, who are the only men affected are still out and report has it that a large number of them have found employment elsewhere. The Dock Company is, of course, by far the largest employer of this class of labour and the strikers number between four and five hundred men.

Mr. W. Wilson, General Manager of the Dock Company, when interviewed this morning regarding the strike admitted the truth of what we have already stated regarding it. The men, he declared, had acted very unreasonably and had packed up their things and gone away from work without giving him any warning. They had not even taken the trouble to see what was the exact position taken up by the Company with regard to their demands. What they asked for was a rise of 20 cents per day.

It appears that while employers of this class of labour might be disposed to consider a rise in wages for the present, while there is a rush of work, they consider that it would be unjustifiable as a permanent thing after the great amount of work brought to various yards by the typhoon is completed and business has returned to a normal level. Wages paid to these and similar workmen in Hongkong are already high but it is feared that if the men once got an advance they would not be inclined to submit to a reduction when another slack time set in.

A meeting of shipbuilders and employers of this class of carpenters was called for this afternoon to consider the situation, and those present were discussing the question as we went to press.

The question of a temporary increase of wages was submitted to the meeting, as also was that of how long the increased rate was to prevail, and how the men were to be induced to return to the old rate when normal conditions again prevailed.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

At the Central Sanitary (five yesterday) Hon. Dr. Atkinson conveyed the thanks of His Excellency the Governor to all the inspectors who had been instrumental in saving life to those who had diligently carried out the extra work caused by the recent typhoon.

Mr. Henry Cook, of Yokohama, died at his residence at No. 187, Honmoku on Sept. 27. The Japan Herald points out that by Mr. Cook's death, at the age of 72, the oldest foreign resident in Japan has been removed. Mr. Cook was born in Ireland, and when a boy, emigrated to the United States with the object of learning the trade of a shipwright. In the early fifties, however, he came to the East in a sailing ship, and landing at Shanghai, was for several years engaged in the shipping trade on the China coast. In 1858 Mr. Cook arrived at Nagasaki and from there was engaged in shipping business with Shanghai. Hearing that Yokohama had been thrown open to foreign trade, Mr. Cook proceeded northward, only to find, when entering the bay, that Mr. Harries, the first American Minister to Japan, was still negotiating with the Japanese for the opening of the port, and, consequently he had to wait in the bay for three days before entering. Mr. Cook's ship was, therefore, the first foreign merchant vessel to enter the port of Yokohama. One trip was later made to Nagasaki, and then, Mr. Cook settled in Yokohama, where he has resided permanently ever since. Shortly after his arrival, Mr. Cook commenced business as a boat-builder and shipwright and was very successful, the oldest yacht in Yokohama to-day—the "Mosquito"—being built at Mr. Cook's yard some thirty years ago. At one time Mr. Cook carried on an extensive business at No. 115, Oreocho, the site now occupied by Peter's ironworks. Mr. Cook was also very successful in the construction of rowing craft, and only last year he built several racing boats for the rowing clubs of the Tokyo schools and the Yokohama Commercial School. Of late years, Mr. Cook has resided at Honmoku, where his ship-building yard was established. Some years ago he married an Irish lady, who was on a visit to Japan, by whom he had issued one son and two daughters, the son being a chief engineer in the service of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, while the two daughters are married and reside abroad. The deceased, who survived his wife by several years, was a very old member of the Masonic Order, being a Charter member of the Scotch Lodge and of Lodge "Ottemosama." For several years he has been in indifferent health. Mr. Cook's reminiscences of the "early days" in Japan were naturally always of interest, and he would often entertain his friends with tales of the early period of foreign intercourse with this country. Unfortunately, however, he could never be persuaded to put them in writing. By his death, the oldest foreign resident has been removed, and another link binding the stirring days of forty years ago with the present has been severed.

LUCKNOW, Sept. 2.

Much loss of life and considerable damage has been caused by floods in the Darbhanga district. Railway lines, bridges, and houses have been washed away in all directions, and telegraphic communication has been greatly interrupted.

Four Nepalese were drowned as they were attempting to escape in a boat; and an inspector of police and a native lost their lives in trying to cross a broken down bridge on a trolley. Three Marwaris were swept away by the flood when crossing in a boat between Kishanpur and Haysat.

The boatmen swim ashore, and five out of the eight passengers along to some trees, and were rescued.

The villagers, driven to desperation, are making raids into the field, though the grain is not yet ready for human consumption. Many natives whose villages have been inundated are camping on the public roads with their live stock.
